TEXT 1: DIARY ENTRY

(Adapted from ChatGPT)

Read the text carefully, then answer the questions which follow in good, full sentences. Take note of the mark allocation at the end of each question.

Dear Diary

1. Today was the most exciting day of my life! Jake, Amelia, and I went 'mini-beast' hunting in the forest, and we found the most amazing creature... but not everybody in our group was pleased to see it!

2. It all began when Amelia called last night. She asked if we could go exploring in Tokai Forest today. Mum said that I could go for an hour, so Amelia and I agreed to meet at my house at 9am.

3. After a great sleep, I woke up early, had breakfast (apricot jam on toast - yum!) and waited for the doorbell to ring. Amelia is ALWAYS late, so I wasn't surprised when she still hadn't turned up by half past nine! I was just about to fall asleep on the sofa when Amelia arrived. Hooray!

4. As we walked to the forest, we saw Jake and he decided to join us. We had a competition to see who could find the most mini-beasts, but before we had even started, Amelia started screaming!

5. When I heard her terrible noise, I spun around and saw the most enormous spider's web in the world! Jake was standing right next to it, jumping up and down with excitement. As I walked closer, I saw the most beautiful spider in the middle of the web. It had long, black legs and an incredible spotty pattern on its back. As you can probably tell, I LOVE spiders, but Amelia wasn't as excited to see it and she couldn't move. She was stuck to the spot and refused to go anywhere!

6. In the end, Jake had to start singing a song. His singing was so bad that she ran away from him to escape the noise! We decided to come back to my house and try to find out more about the spider that we had seen... although Amelia preferred to play with my Art set!

7. Tomorrow is my birthday, but I don't think that it is going to be as exciting as today!

TEXT 2: POEM

NO FEAR...

Heartbeat quickens, breath held tight,
In the darkness of the night.
Eight-eyed creatures, shadows cast
In corners where they spin so fast.

But brave she stands, with trembling hands,
Facing fears, she understands:
No matter what the personal cost,
This is a war that won't be lost.

For though the spiders may cause fright,
She'll conquer fear with all her might.
Just thirteen, brave and bold,
A true hero, her story's told.

Exploring the World of Spiders

Welcome to the fascinating world of spiders! Spiders are found almost everywhere on Earth, from the tallest mountains to the deepest caves. There are over 40,000 different species known to scientists. Despite their diversity, all spiders share some common characteristics.

Spiders are arachnids, which means they have eight legs and two body parts: the cephalothorax (head and thorax fused together) and the abdomen. Unlike insects, spiders do not have antennae or wings.

EXEMPLAR

One of the most fascinating features of spiders is their silk-spinning ability. They use silk for various purposes, such as building webs to catch prey, creating shelters, or even as a safety line when they jump or fall. Spiders are skilled hunters. Most species catch their food by spinning webs, while others actively hunt down their prey. Despite their small size, some spiders can take down prey much larger than themselves!

While some species, like the black widow or the brown recluse, have venomous bites, most spiders are harmless and prefer to avoid humans altogether. In fact, spiders play a crucial role in controlling insect populations, helping to keep ecosystems in balance.

Spiders are truly incredible creatures. By learning more about these fascinating arachnids, we can develop a greater appreciation for the natural world around us. So next time you see a spider, instead of being afraid, take a moment to marvel at the wonders of nature's eight-legged wonders.

Man Bitten by Venomous Spider in His Home
